

HEARTWALK – NEW YORK, NY

PROJECT PROFILE

This artist rendering provided by the Times Square Alliance shows a proposed public art installation of a Valentine's Day sculpture made with New York and New Jersey boardwalk planks damaged by Superstorm Sandy, at left. The illuminated installation called "Heartwalk," designed by the Brooklyn-based firm, Situ Studio, won the annual Times Square Valentine Heart Design competition and will be displayed in Manhattan's Duffy Square from Feb. 12 until March 8. AP Photo/Times Square Alliance, Situ Studio.

TECHNICAL/ENVIRONMENTAL LEAD: Brian Lotz

HEARTWALK – NEW YORK, NY

specification: Reclaimed Ipe from various boardwalks after Hurricane Sandy application:

architect: Situ Studio

date: